DOUGIE FREEDMAN

Good evening and welcome to tonight's game against Huddersfield Town. I'd like to extend that welcome to Mark Robins, his visiting players, staff and supporters, as well as to our match sponsors Anthony Axford Ltd.

Our last five home games have seen us pick up five wins and we of course want to keep that record going this evening.

Home form is a key factor in being a successful team. I want our fans to come to the Reebok knowing that they are going to see a side that will play well, control games through possession and be prepared to fight for each other to get the right result.

We will achieve this through our work on the training ground, our attention to detail and our determination. Credit to the players, they are prepared to put the work in, to take on board our ideas of how we like to play our football, how we expect them to look after themselves off the pitch and the level of application we expect.

Over the international break we were focusing on keeping the squad fresh, so we made sure our days were designed to do just that. We kept everyone ticking over physically, accepting that we have played a lot of games and that it is important to try and refresh both physical and mental sharpness.

We have had a number of players away on international duty and this game follows on from our trip to Charlton, so I will be making full use of the squad over these next two games.

I would also like to take this opportunity to put on record my thanks to Kevin Davies for the support and professionalism he has shown since I arrived at the club.

Last week I told him that we would not be offering him a new deal. I felt that he deserved to be told sooner, rather than wait till the end of the season. This way it gives Kevin more time to sort out his next step.

It is now up to me to find the next Kevin Davies for Bolton Wanderers and I am looking forward to that challenge.

Thanks again for your continued support. At our last home game it was crucial that the crowd really got behind the team when Brighton put us under pressure in the second half. That backing will again play an important part this evening.

Huddersfield, like many teams at this stage of the season, have something to play for. They will be playing without fear, knowing that they need points to help keep them in this league. We will have to make sure we stand up to the challenge and execute our game-plan in order to secure a positive result.

KEVIN DAVIES

Good evening and welcome to the Reebok Stadium for this evening's game against Huddersfield Town.

As I'm sure you will have all heard, this will be my last season at Bolton Wanderers. I have loved every minute of it and all of the challenges that we, as a club, have faced over the last decade.

I would just like to say thanks, on behalf of myself and my family, for all the support and good luck messages we have received since the announcement was made.

I am deeply disappointed to be leaving at the end of the season, but respect the club's decision. Needless to say, I will be giving my all until the end of the season.

Due to printing deadlines I am penning these notes prior to our game away at Charlton Athletic. Hopefully we will be at the beginning of another winning streak after a positive performance and result at The Valley.

We have won our last five home games and it is crucial that we maintain that run if we are to have a chance of making the play-offs.

We were all disappointed with our previous away result against Ipswich Town at Portman Road. Conceding a goal late on is always hard to take, especially after we recently won a few game with late goals recently.

Having the international break was a good opportunity for the boys to get their feet up and recharge the batteries after such a busy but profitable period for us. Often when you play so many games in quick succession you pick up little niggling injuries, so it was a welcome break ahead of our run in.

Our recent form has put ourselves in a real position to make a charge at the play-off places and at this crucial part of the season we need your support more than ever.

Enjoy the game.

PHIL GARTSIDE

I want to begin my notes tonight by placing on record on behalf of everyone at Bolton Wanderers and our fans, our sincere gratitude for everything that Kevin Davies has done for the club over nine years with us.

Kevin is a Bolton Wanderers legend, pure and simple. He gave us everything every single time he pulled on a training top, Bolton shirt and of course an England shirt.

Never was he less than 100 percent dedicated to the cause and he was battered black and blue in pursuit of that. Through European campaigns, cup campaigns and Premier League campaigns, you knew you could count fairly and squarely on Kevin.

There is never a good time to let a player know that he won't be getting a new deal and it was no different with Kevin.

We felt that Kevin deserved to know ahead of the end of the season, so that he could begin to plan for the next stage in his career.

Naturally, he was disappointed, as I would expect him to be. Our decision was based on footballing reasons and that always has to be the case.

Kevin knows he will always be welcome at the Reebok and he leaves us with our warmest wishes and grateful thanks.

Tonight we are back in action at home for the first time since the beginning of the month. It has been pleasing to see our home form really pick up a head of steam. Again, we will be looking to secure the three points and take our run of back-to-back home wins to six.

Thanks very much for your support and backing tonight.

Phil

After excelling in the BTEC Level 1 and 2 Sport courses based at the Reebok Stadium over the past year, Alexander, aged 17, is now set to begin a new venture in full-time employment in May 2013.

"We've taken Alexander on as part of the Bolton Wanderers and Concept Management partnership," Mark Walden, marketing director at Concept Management explained. "Alexander has been managed and taught by the Bolton Wanderers Institute of Sport and has impressed. He'll now join us on our apprentice scheme."

Concept Management have since agreed to take on up to six further students on a part-time basis, ensuring that each individual is able to work whilst staying in education. For more information on Concept Management you can visit: www.conceptmanagementuk.com

EAVES ON TARGET FOR SHREWS

Wanderers striker Tom Eaves has continued to find his goal-scoring touch whilst on loan with League One side Shrewsbury Town.

The 21-year-old made six appearances for the Shrews during the first month of his loan spell; scoring three goals including a brace in the side's 3-2 win over MK Dons at the beginning of March.

The forward's goals have helped the Shropshire-based club move away from the relegation places and last week Eaves further extended his loan spell at Town.

BECOME A PART OF BOLTON WANDERERS HISTORY IN SUPPORT OF NAT

The award winning sculptor Sean Hedges Quinn is currently creating a bronze 9ft statue of Nat Lofthouse OBE.

The pose was chosen by fans, family and Club of Nat Lofthouse walking out as Captain with ball in hand from the tunnel at Burden Park.

The image reflects that which Nat did week in week out and is suited well to his final words spoken before he died on 15th January 2011. "I've got the ball now, it's a bit worn but I have got it". It will be situated outside the Main entrance of the Reebok Stadium.

The Nat Lofthouse Memorial Fund Committee is inviting you to be part of Bolton Wanderers history by becoming either a Patron or a Friend of Nat in support of building this lasting Memorial to Nat.

The special packages of £5,000 for Patron and £1,000 for Friends of Nat include for the patron one of up to 18 limited edition 18 inch Maquette, numbered and signed by Sculptor, and for the patrons and friends one of 58 framed wall mounted freeze of Nat raising up the FA Cup in bronze (18"x14")

For further information regarding these special packages please contact Phil Mason on 01204 673668.

A BURNING DESIRE

Frontman Craig Davies has enjoyed his start to life at the Reebok Stadium after his January switch across the Pennines from Barnsley. Wanderers' number 28 speaks in depth about his career so far which has seen him play in Italy and win the League Two title.

ONE-ON-ONE

What was his thinking behind joining Wanderers? Just how good is Gareth Bale? What was it like playing in Italy? And how did it feel to score four against his hometown club?

WE PUT YOUR QUESTIONS TO...

CRAIG DAVIES

In recent weeks the Davies household have welcomed a new member to the family as the striker settles into life at Bolton Wanderers.

It has been a whirlwind start to 2013 for the former Brighton and Wolves man, but Davies told the official match day programme he wouldn't have his life any other way.

Speaking after his visit to Derian House to hand over easter eggs to the local children, the Welsh international answered your questions and revealed he hopes to have a new favourite memory in football by the end of this season.

What persuaded you to join Bolton Wanderers from Barnsley in January?

Lee Stevens via email

Bolton Wanderers are a massive football club, they were in the Premier League for a number of years and they are looking to bounce straight back and that is where I want to be.

How have you found your first three months at the Reebok Stadium?

Graham Wilson via email

I have really enjoyed my time at the club so far, all the lads are great and have made me feel welcome straight away.

I have enjoyed playing and I am looking forward to being back at the Reebok tonight against Huddersfield Town and hopefully we can make it six wins at home on the spin in the Championship.

You started your career at Manchester City but who did you support when you were growing up?

Hannah Haggerty via Twitter

Growing up I supported Birmingham City but they were never in the top flight so I used to support Arsenal too.

Having played for a number of different clubs up and down the country; is it hard moving away from home?

Josh Simpson via Facebook

It is hard when all of your family are back at home but you have to get on with it because it is the part and parcel of the game.

For example I have played for clubs like Brighton and Yeovil which are down south and it was hard to settle.

It has been difficult I won't lie but at the minute I am not far away from my family and I am settled.

What is your career highlight so far? I hope you have a new one come May!

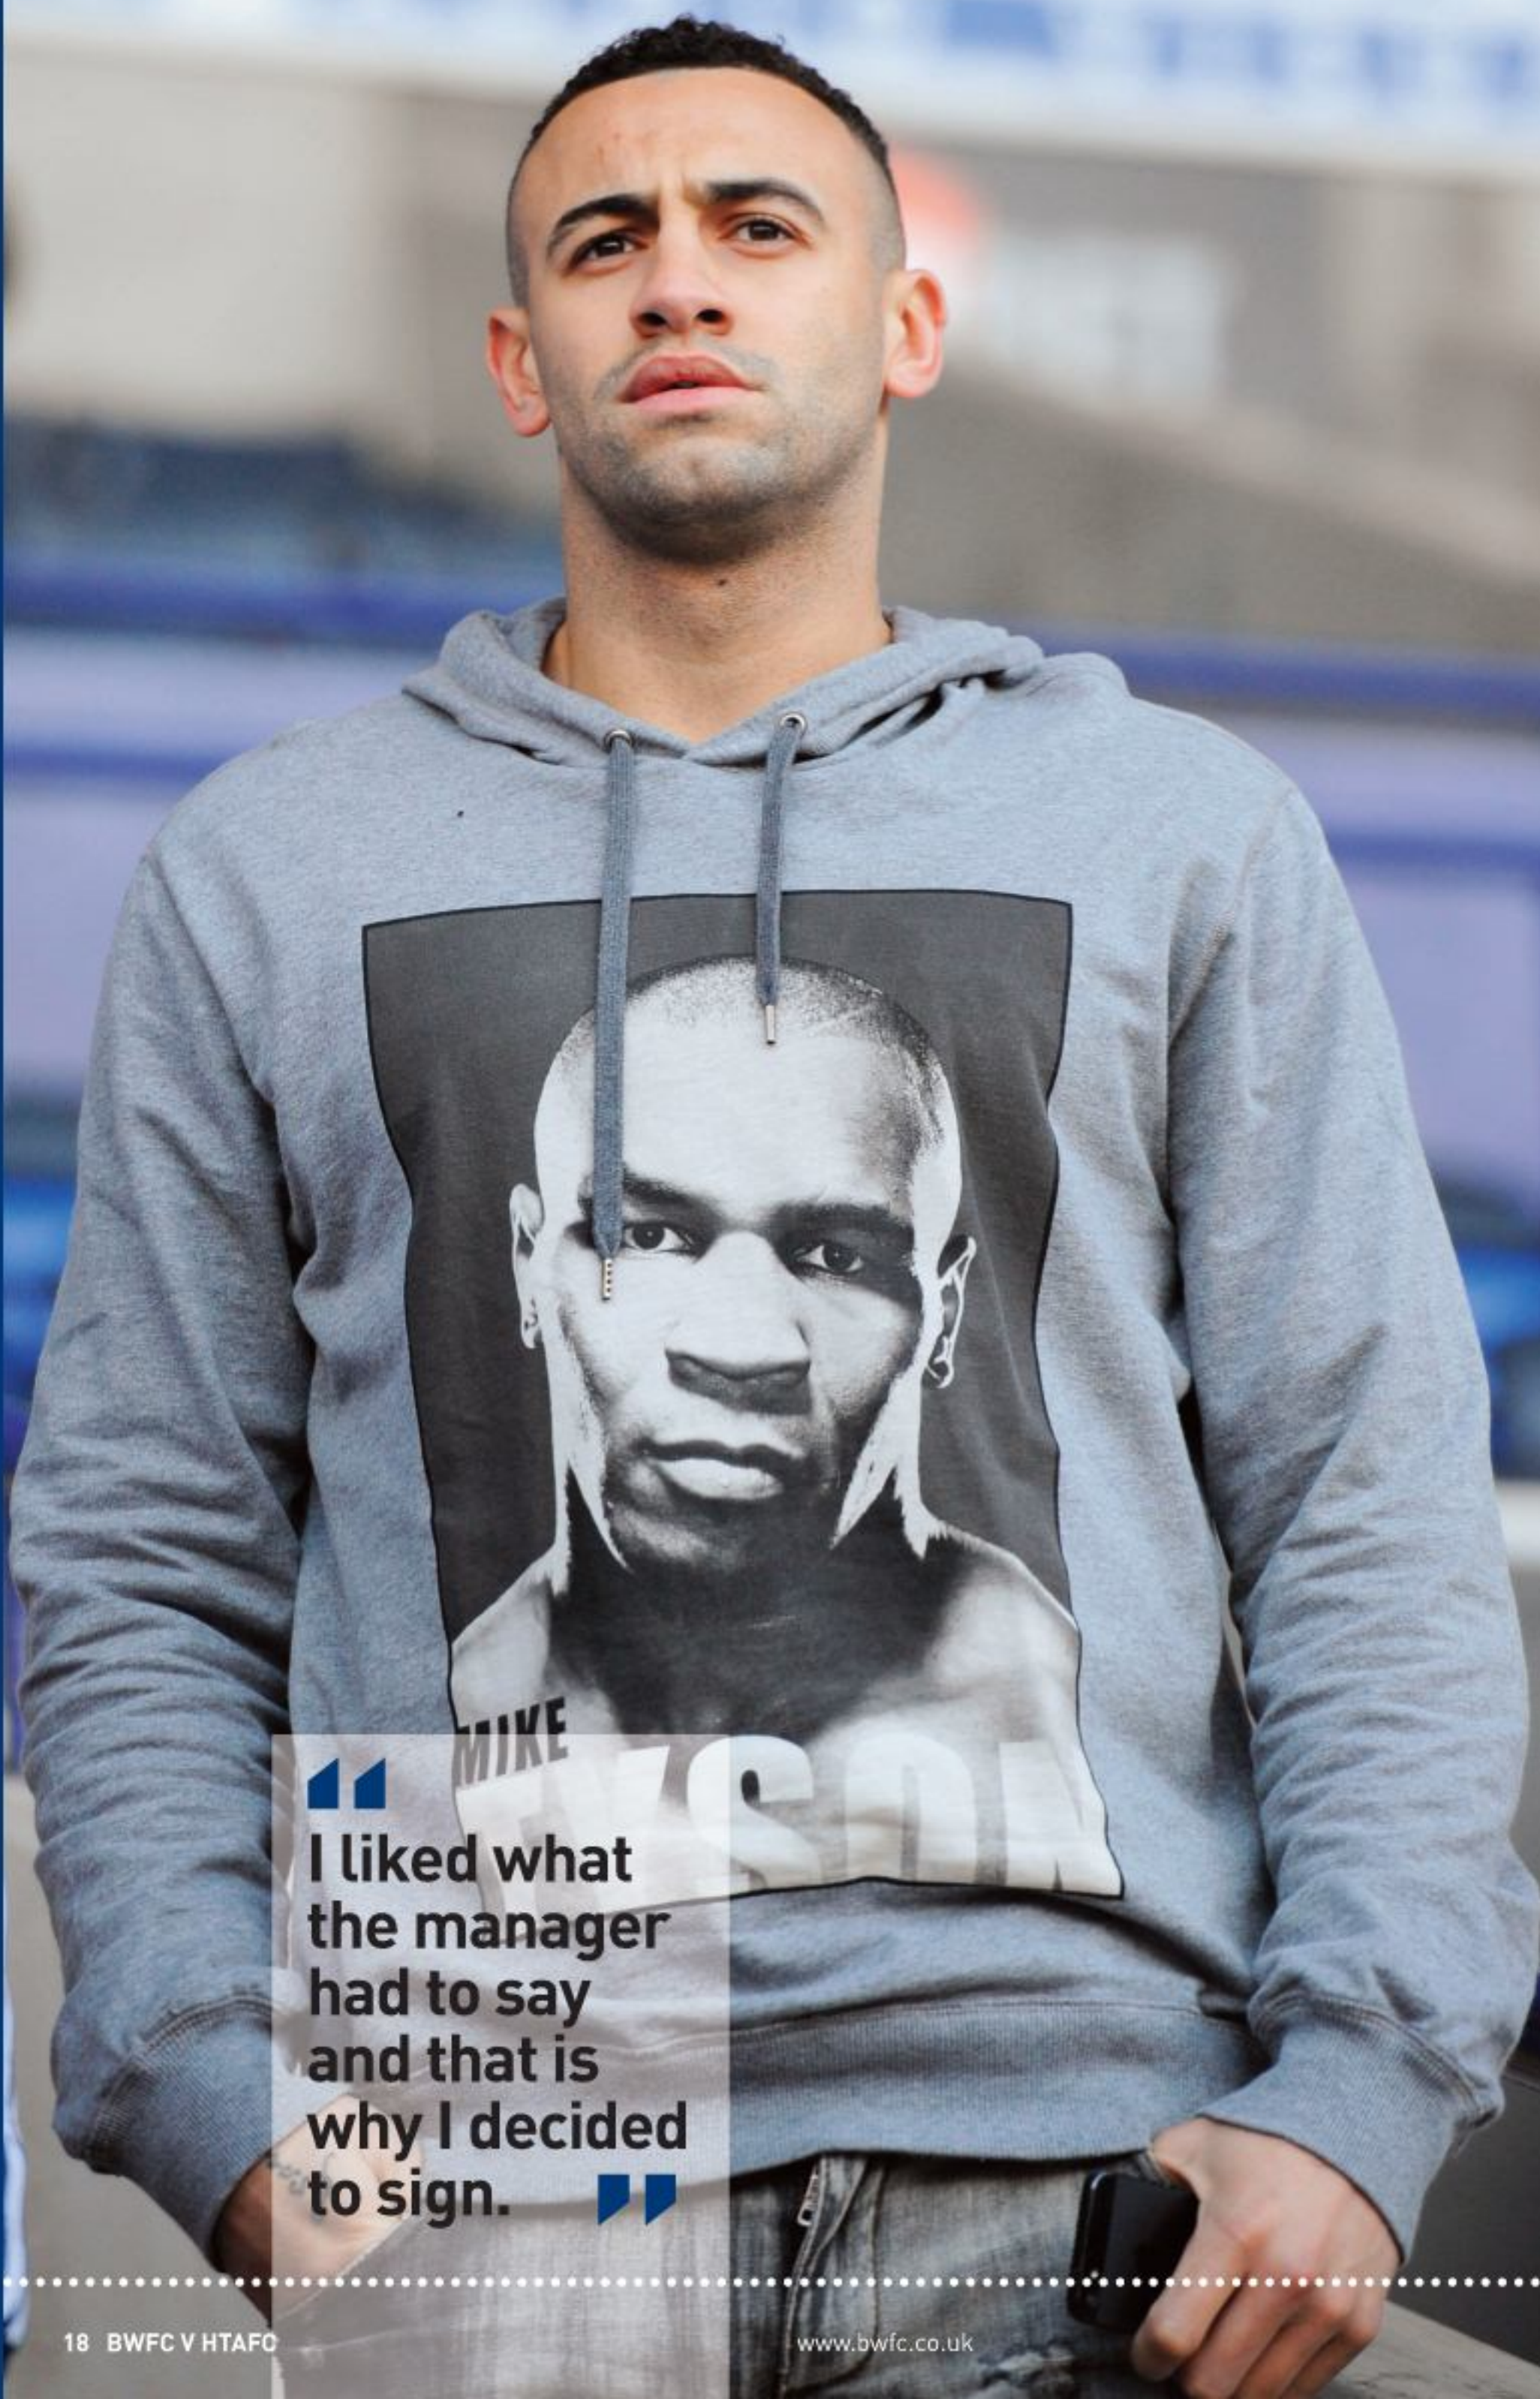

Daniel Nuttall via Facebook

So do I but we are focusing on one game at a time and

CRAIG DAVIES

“ I liked what the manager had to say and that is why I decided to sign. ”

hopefully we will reach our target. The best moment of my career so far has to be winning the League Two title with Chesterfield a couple of years ago.

It was a crazy time, everybody was emotional and savouring the moment. Winning any honour is an amazing feeling and it is a great achievement to look back on.

I finished top goal scorer in League Two so I played a big part in Chesterfield's success and it will always be special to me and will stay close to my heart.

How did you find playing in Italy at such a young age?
Ben Sharples via email

It was difficult but it is something which I wanted to experience. Not many people get the opportunity to go and work abroad so it was the correct decision for me at the time.

I was only 19, so I was very young but I enjoyed the experience of playing in Italy and it has helped my career in the long run.

Having played for Wales, how good is Gareth Bale?
Jane Smith via Twitter

A lot of people have asked me that and he is as good as he is on TV. He is a world class player and everybody knows he is a special talent.

If you could write the next three years of your career, what would happen?
Craig Bushell via Facebook

My first goal is to do really well for Bolton Wanderers Football Club. The manager has shown faith in me and I want to fulfil my potential here.

Over the years people have said that it hasn't happened yet for me but it is not far away now. I am getting to the right age now and I am looking to find my best form.

As a striker playing under Dougie Freedman, has he helped improve your game since you first arrived?
Gary Tolson via email

When I first met the manager in January, we sat down and spoke ahead of my move to the club. It is always nice to feel wanted and to hear what the manager has got planned for the club. I liked the sound of what he was saying and he was one of the reasons why I signed.

Growing up, which player did you aspire to be like?
Andy Southall via Facebook

I loved watching Ian Wright during his time at Arsenal but my favourite player as a child was Brazil's number nine Ronaldo, he was out of this world.

I loved him, he was on a different level and nobody could stop him on his day. I always looked up to him, likewise Thierry Henry.

I want to play at the highest level in the Premier League and anything is achievable if you are willing to work hard and stay focused. Only two years ago I was in League Two and now I am in the Championship.

I am sure I can in the top flight with Bolton Wanderers and help the club get back to where they belong.

How are you finding juggling playing professional football and looking after a new born baby?
Mark Lee via Twitter

It is a part of life, I am focused on playing football but I am a very proud dad. If anything it has made me more determined and it has given me more desire to succeed in life.

Your last goal for Barnsley was against Bolton at the Reebok, did you ever imagine the next time you would score it would be for Wanderers back here against Burnley?
Harriet Carson via Facebook

Anything is possible in football. I was confident I could play for Bolton Wanderers; I was doing well at Barnsley and I believe I can repeat my form here which earned me the move.

How did you end up playing for Wales when you were born in Burton?
Ryan Elliott via Facebook

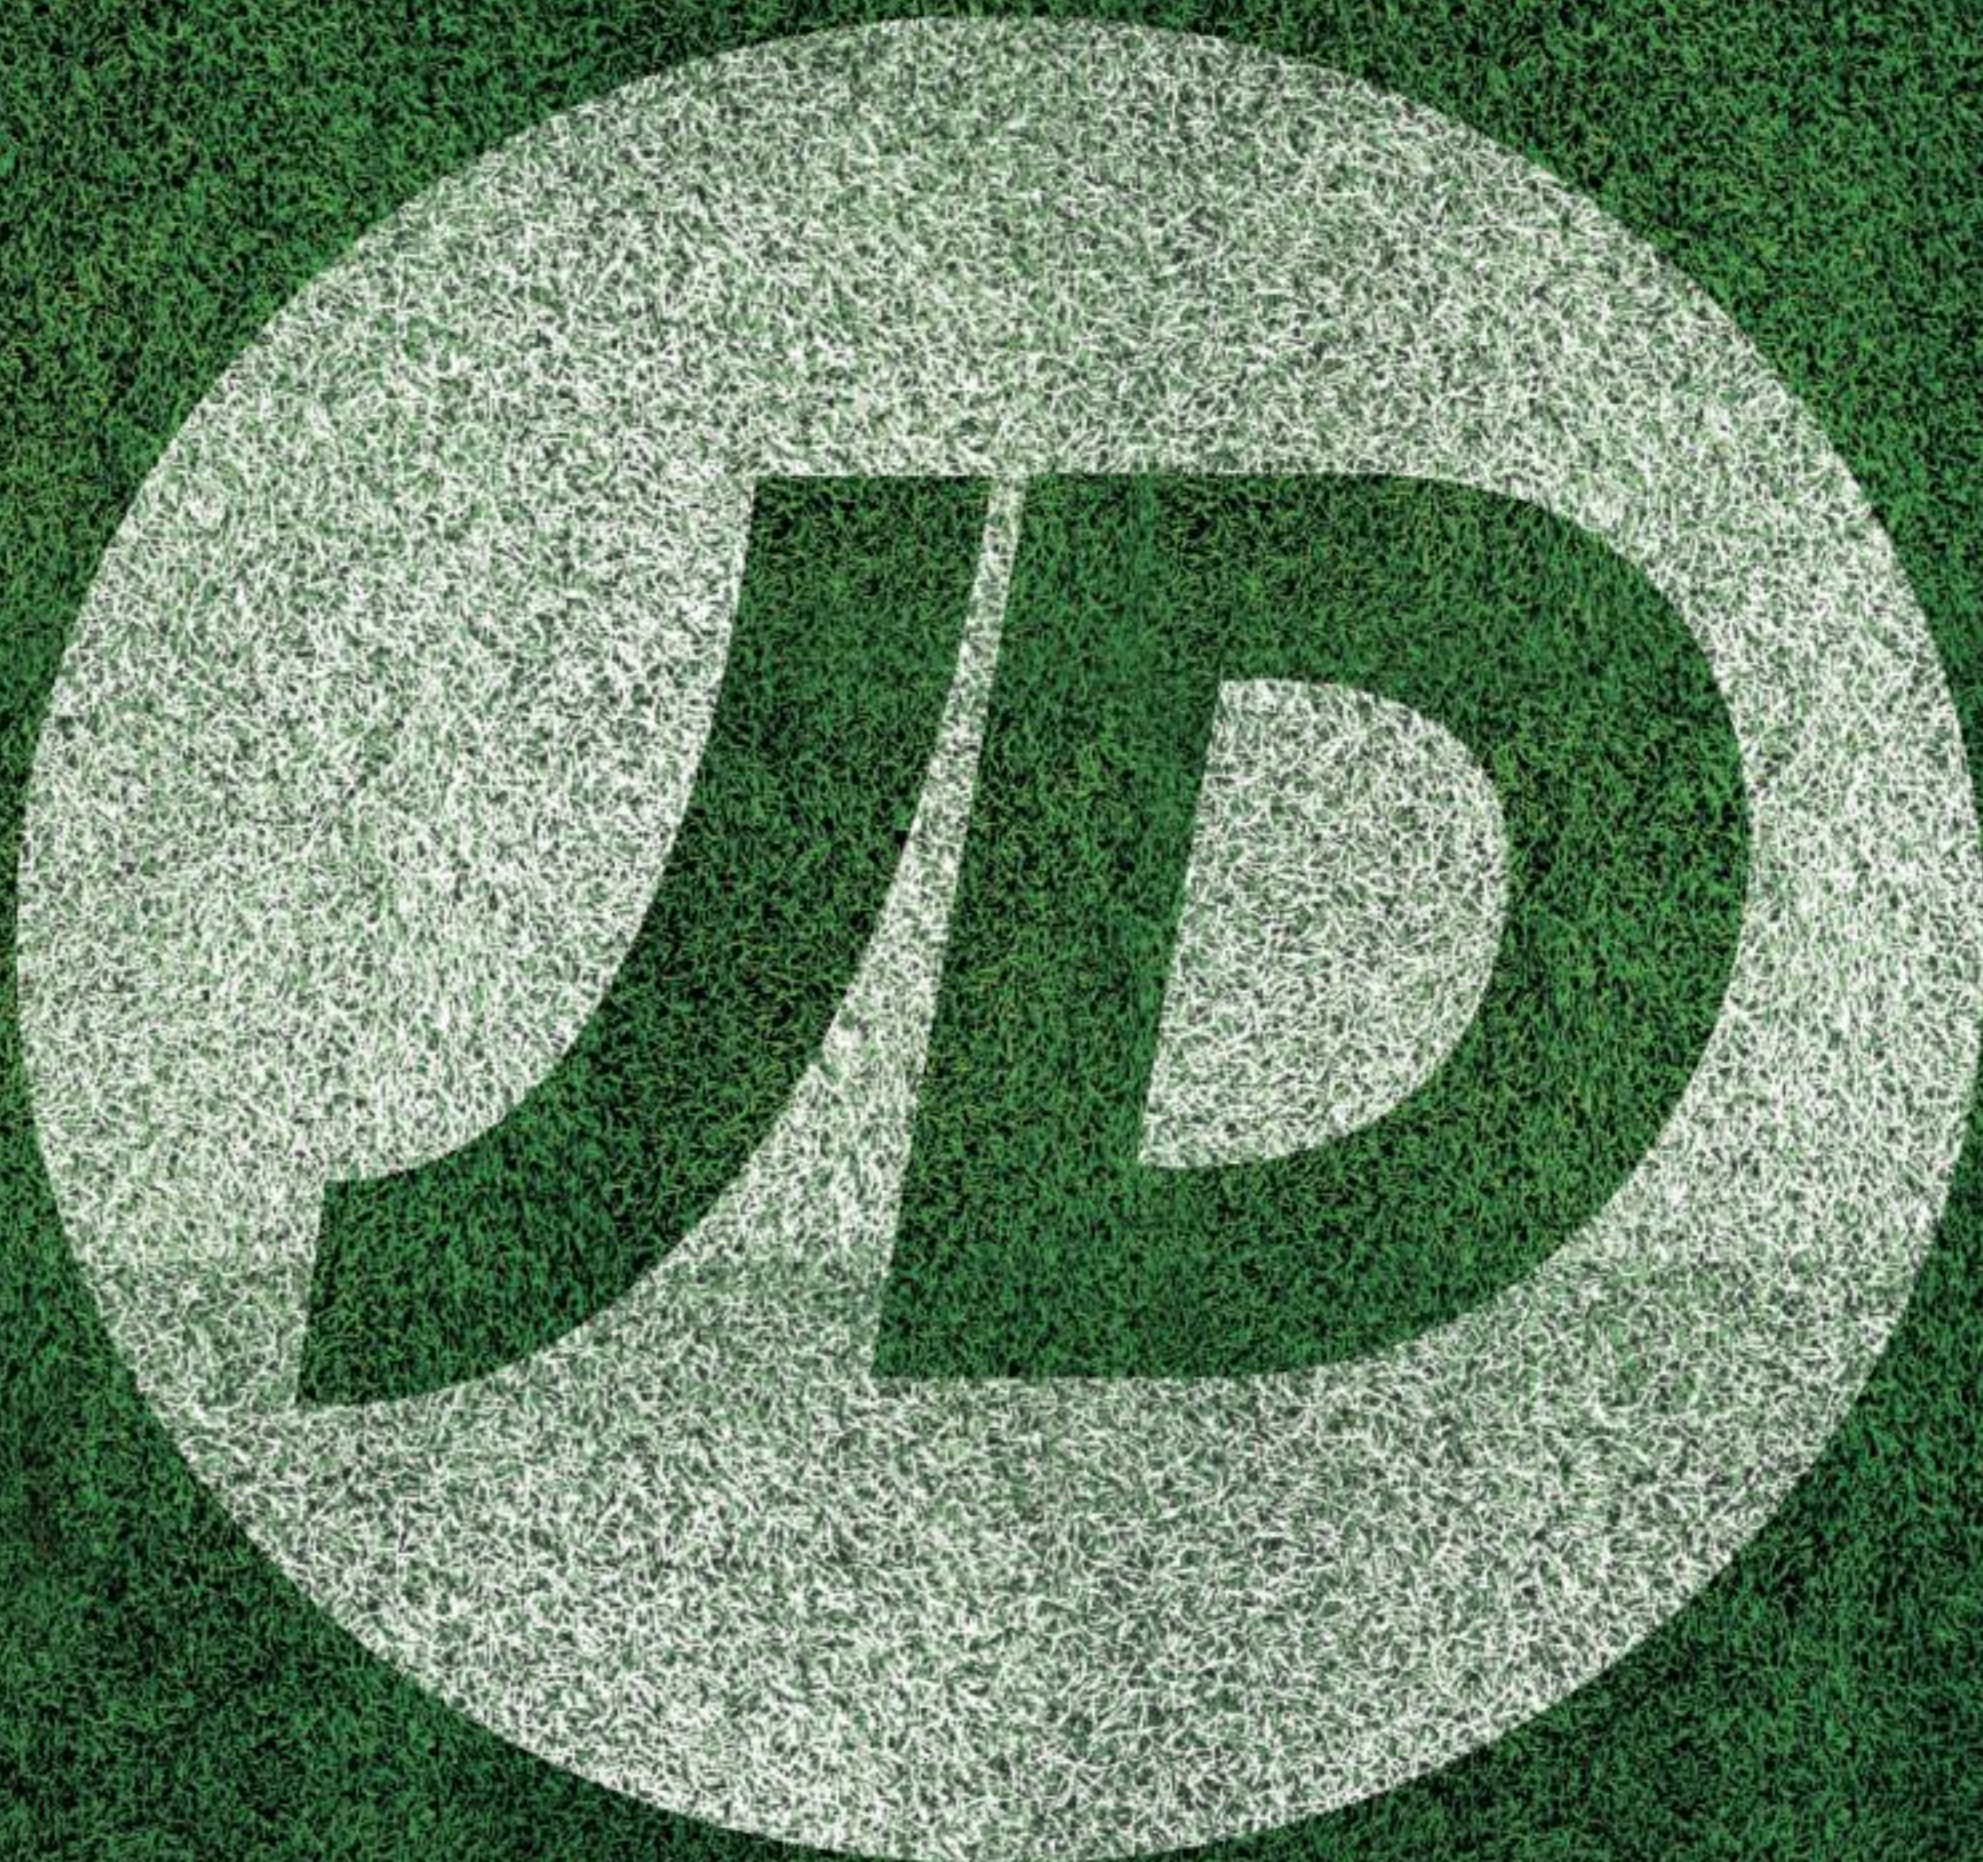

My grandad is Welsh and I am very close to him. He is a proud man and it always makes him smile when he sees me pull on the Red shirt.

My grandad has supported me from the start of my career and it was a massive moment when I made my debut for and I love representing Wales.

It was a blow seeing Wales lose last week against Croatia, but we will keep strong and stay confident that we can continue to improve in the future.

What was it like to score four goals earlier this season against Birmingham City?
Lisa Segway via Twitter

It was like a dream come true. Scoring four goals is brilliant, but to score them against Birmingham, where I grew up, made it more special. I went to see my grandparents after the game and showed them the matchball. They were made up for me and had watched the game on TV. I've always been close to my family as they have supported me through the good and bad.

IPSWICH V WANDERERS

Carlos Edwards' strike two minutes from time denied Wanderers a point against Ipswich Town at Portman Road.

In a game with very few chances created, Edwards scored the game's only goal in the dying minutes as he put away the rebound after his initial shot was blocked in front of goal.

The result meant the Trotters unbeaten run of eight games came to an end in the npower Championship.

MANAGER'S REACTION:

"I felt we were dominant in possession throughout. We did make chances and created the opportunities in the final third, but that final decision as to whether to shoot or pass wasn't quite right.

"The commitment was certainly there from both sets of players. Ipswich are a difficult side to play against. Mick has got them working hard and they, like us, fought for every loose ball.

"I've been in this game a long time and know that there's still a long way to go. The important thing is that we don't look back. There's no doubt in my mind that we can go on another unbeaten run if we play the way we are at the moment. **"

BOLTON WANDERERS TOP TENS

CELEBRATIONS

Scoring goals is part and parcel of what football is all about, and these moments of success are often accompanied by celebration between players and fans alike.

In this issue, we look at ten Wanderers who made a point of marking their goal with a memorable celebration - starting with the 'Peacock' which was a creation of recent Reebok star Henrik Pedersen.

WORDS: MARK HEYS

◀ Henrik Pedersen

In a mutual agreement with Danish national team-mate Brian Steen Nielsen, Henrik stated that once he had scored his first goal for the club that he would mimic the flying of feathers of a peacock. Luckily for the Whites, he hit a prolific scoring streak at the early part of the 2004/05 season.

Stuart Holden ▶

When Holden volleyed in a late match winner against local rivals Blackburn Rovers in December 2010, little did we know that full-back Paul Robinson would take it upon himself to produce a swan dive across his team-mates during the mass celebrations.

◀ Craig Dawson

Scoring not once, but twice, endeared the centre-half to the Wanderers crowd in the recent win over promotion hopefuls Hull City. After completing his brace, the former Rochdale man was mobbed by his Bolton team-mates including defensive partner Zat Knight who leapt high up on top of the delighted Dawson.

Nicolas Anelka ▶

During his eighteen months at the Reebok, Anelka scored goals with regularity regardless of the situation, but when he was asked about his dove celebration the Frenchman was more reserved, when implying that it was a private story between himself and his friends.

◀ Kevin Nolan

Former Bolton captain and fans' favourite Kevin Nolan celebrated the birth of his first child in 2006 by adopting an 'I.L.U' celebration. Apparently, the meaning of the sign was 'I love you' and was much more dignified than the chicken dance he adopted upon his subsequent move to Newcastle United.

Chris Eagles ▶

The former Manchester United and Burnley winger has scored his fair share of goals this season, but none arguably more important than that against Blackburn last month. He celebrated his injury-time winner by running the full-length of the Nat Lofthouse stand amongst mass celebrations at a packed Reebok.

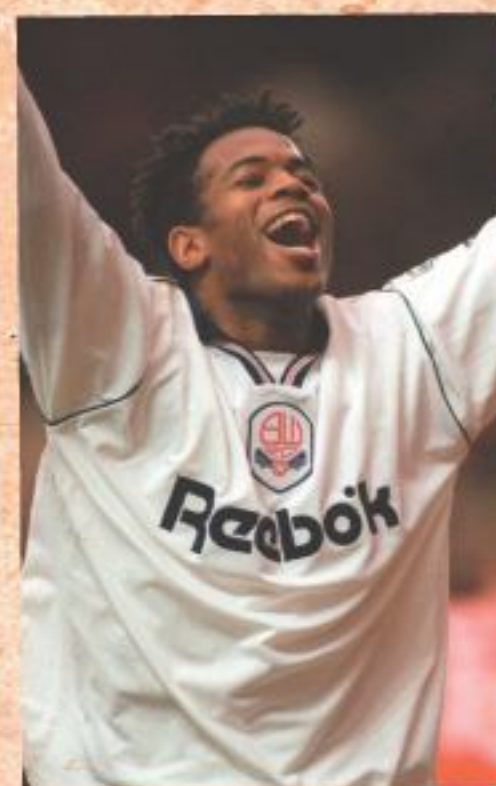

◀ Mike Whitlow

The former club captain celebrated his first goal in Wanderers colours with a tribal dance in April 2000 when the Trotters dispatched of today's opponents Huddersfield Town to improve their chances of booking a play-off place.

Nathan Blake ▶

The ex-Welsh international's 30-yard strike proved to be the match winner against West Bromwich Albion in March 1997. After finding the net, the forward ran over to the Burnden Paddock and somersaulted into the air, and his goal and the subsequent celebrations deserved high praise.

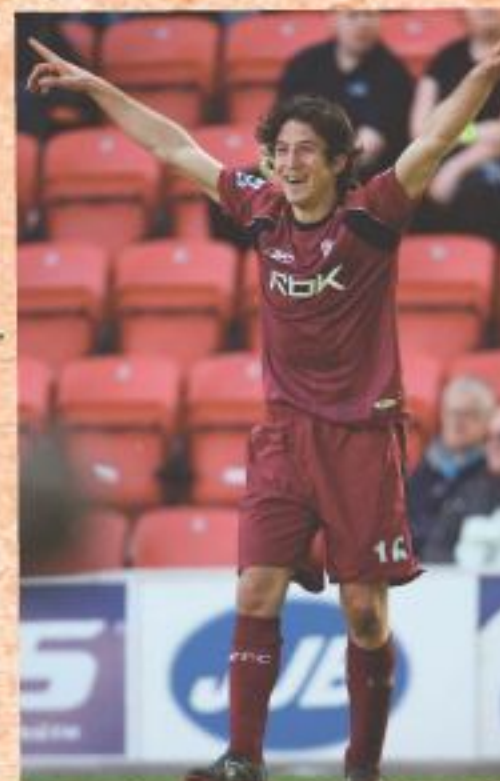

◀ Chung-Yong Lee

Scenes of delight and chaos ensued when Chung-Yong headed home a last-minute winner against Birmingham City at St Andrew's in the FA Cup two years ago. Mark Davies promptly pulled the South Korean to the ground and Stuart Holden, David Wheeler, Johan Elmander and Kevin Davies all piled in to join in celebrating a semi-final place at Wembley.

Andranik Teymourian ▶

A brace over local rivals Wigan Athletic at the then named JJB Stadium proved to be the midfielder's only league goals for the Whites, but he definitely made the most of the moment. On that day in April 2007, Teymourian jumped into the crowd to celebrate with the travelling Wanderers fans.

Place of birth: Sunderland

BWFC magic moment: Forming a devastating strike partnership with David Reeves that helped earn him a place in the Football League Third Division PFA Team of the Year for the 1990-91 season.

THEN:

Philliskirk's career was a well-travelled one, with the striker representing 11 different clubs in the space of just 15 years.

He began his playing days at Sheffield United, before being loaned out to fellow Yorkshire side Rotherham United.

Departing United on a permanent basis, Philliskirk had short spells with Oldham Athletic and the first of two spells with Preston North End.

The Sunderland-born striker then gave three years service to Wanderers after a £50,000 move and went on to make 182 Whites appearances.

Philliskirk made quite an impression at Burnden Park, hitting an impressive 76 goals in all competitions before moving on to Peterborough United.

As his career entered its twilight, Philliskirk enjoyed short spells at Burnley, Carlisle United, Cardiff City, Halifax Town and Macclesfield Town.

NOW:

After returning to Oldham Athletic in 1998 as a coach, Philliskirk was handed the role of youth coach at the Latics.

Following a five-year tenure coaching the youth team, Philliskirk was made assistant manager to Iain Dowie and remained in the position until 2003.

He then reverted to his original position overseeing the development of Oldham's youngsters, including Wanderers' forward Tom Eaves.

When Paul Dickov was relieved of his duties as manager, Philliskirk became caretaker manager and masterminded the 2-2 draw with Everton in the FA Cup, earning the Latics a replay at Goodison Park which they later lost.

THEN:

Stubbs' 18-year career began at Bolton in 1990 after coming through the ranks and remained at Burnden Park for six years before he made a big-money move to Scottish giants Celtic.

Stubbs and the rest of the Bolton squad sealed promotion to the second tier of English football after finishing as runners-up in Division Two in the 1992/93 season.

Stubbs was then handed captain's armband, a feat that spurred him on to further glory, as he led Bolton to another promotion two years later.

The defender remained a White for their maiden Premier League campaign, before moving north of the border in the summer of 1996.

After five years at the Scottish club, Stubbs moved back to England, playing for Everton and Sunderland and saw out his playing days at Derby County.

NOW:

Shortly after hanging up his boots, Stubbs returned to Everton, this time in a coaching capacity.

Since then, Stubbs has remained at the club, assisting in the coaching of both the development and U18s squads.

Wanderers 1 - 2 Liverpool

A cry of 'Bolton are back', 'Bolton are back' raised the roof around Burnden Park after a thrilling Coca Cola cup semi-final second leg win over Swindon Town, meaning Wanderers had booked their ticket to Wembley to face Liverpool in the final. It was the club's first major trip to the famous stadium since two Nat Lofthouse goals were enough to lift the FA Cup 37 years earlier.

Indeed, Bolton Wanderers were back under the management of Bruce Rioch. The Whites were grabbing the national headlines with a number of famous cup victories, culminating with great attacking football in Division One in a quest to bring back top flight football to Bolton for the first time since 1980.

After John McGinlay pounced two minutes from time to secure Wanderers' victory in the semi-final, Wembley fever started to circulate in Bolton.

The Freight Rover and the Sherpa Van Trophies' may not have held the prestige of the FA Cup or the Coca Cola Cup, but for the Wanderers faithful, they were major milestones on the route back to the top.

In the previous nine years, Bolton appeared at Wembley three times, two of those in the Freight Rover and Sherpa Van Trophies' for the lower league clubs.

In 1986 Wanderers tasted defeat to Bristol City but three years later made amends with a final victory over Torquay United.

However, in 1991, the Whites were defeated by North West neighbours Tranmere Rovers in the Division Three play-off final.

The team, as well as the supporters, were all ready to savour the occasion and for many it was a dream come true.

Youngster Jason McAteer, who later went on to play for Liverpool, was playing non-league football only two years previous to the 95 cup final, whilst a number of older players in the Wanderers squad were represented with the chance for a final appearance at the home of English football.

The 33,000 allocation was snapped up by Bolton supporters within five days, and the invasion from the North West to the Capital was on.

For Liverpool, it was to be their seventh appearance in the League Cup final as Roy Evans' side as they looked to see off their lower league opponents.

In a final that lived up to high expectations, Wanderers made their Premier League opponents work hard and put up a strong fight from the first whistle to the last.

With a cauldron of noise and temperatures soaring on a hot April's afternoon, it was the Merseyside outfit who took the lead in the 37th minute.

Playmaker John Barnes, playing the holding role in midfield, threaded the ball through to winger Steve McManaman to cut inside and fire a low shot past Branagan.

The Bolton support continued to back their team and were nearly rewarded with an equaliser when Alan Thompson came agonisingly close to getting a touch on David Lee's cross.

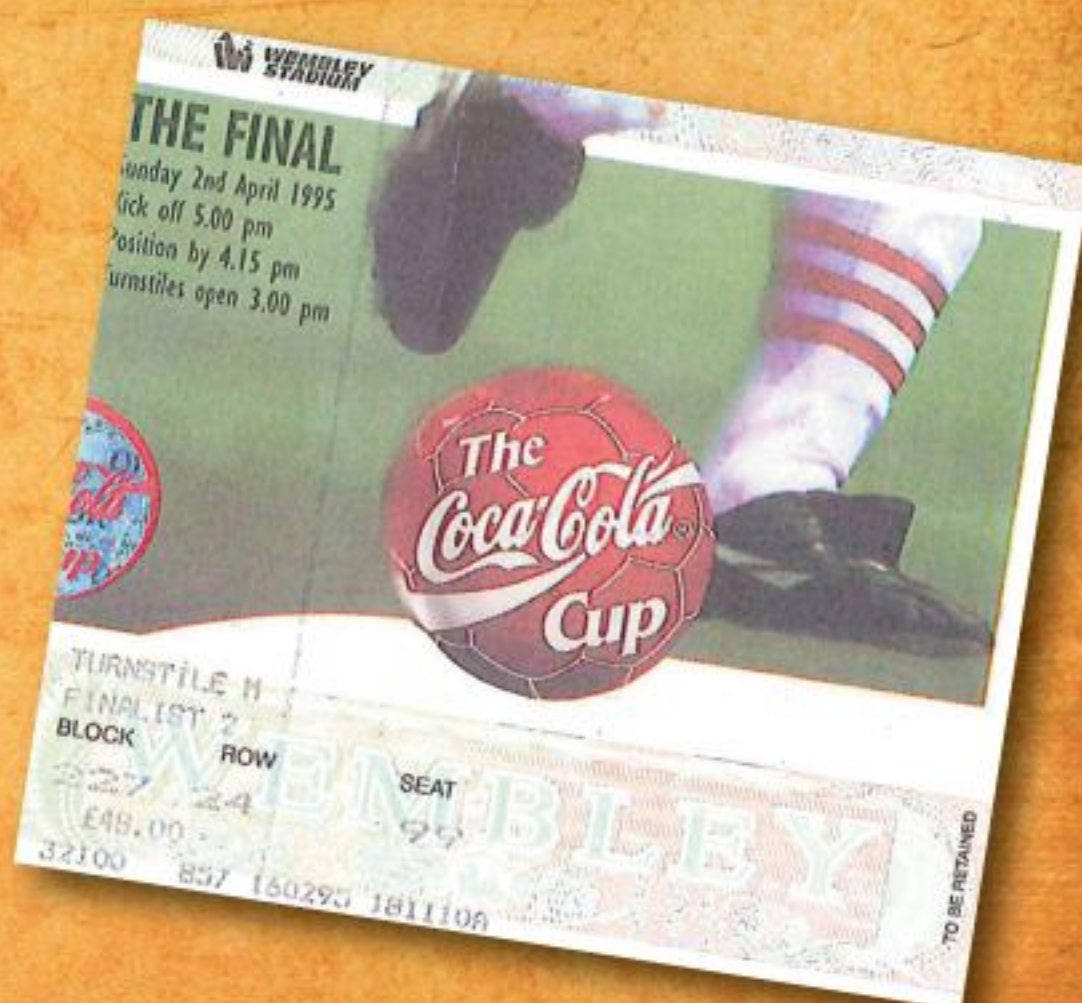

However, Man of the Match McManaman dealt Bolton with a second blow with a sublime finish to hand the Reds a two goal advantage.

Wanderers, with their never say die attitude, made the last 15 minutes as difficult as they could for their opponents and pulled a deserved goal back.

Wideman Thompson, with his back to goal, chested the ball down and turned on the volley to hit a superb left footed strike into the top corner past the outstretched arm of David James.

Despite their valiant efforts, Liverpool held on to their slender lead to lift the trophy for a fifth time but Bolton took great pride away from the performance.

But that wasn't the end of Bolton's Wembley adventure, two months later Wanderers were back and celebrating victory over Reading in the play-off final resulting in the club securing promotion to the Premier League.

Palace 1 - 2 Wanderers

"Credit to the players, they moved the ball well with some good phases of play," says academy head coach David Lee

An inexperienced Wanderers' under-18 side turned in a thoroughly professional performance, running out winners by the odd goal in three at Crystal Palace at the weekend.

David Lee and Tony Kelly's side controlled the match for large periods, with Tom Young hitting the post and Saul Hamer seeing a goal disallowed inside the opening 45.

After the interval the one-way traffic continued, with Wanderers duly rewarded for their attacking endeavours on the hour mark.

Elliot Newby was hauled down 20 yards from goal, with Tom Walker expertly dispatching the resulting set piece.

With ten minutes remaining the lead was doubled after some persistent pressure from Wanderers' attacking contingent forced a calamitous error resulting in an own goal.

Late on the hosts did halve the deficit, but the Baby Whites were not to be denied.

Head coach Lee said: "With seven first years and only three second years in the team, the physical aspect of the game was always going to be tough. Credit to the players, they moved the ball well with some good phases of play.

"What was pleasing was the attitude, desire and determination of what was a very young team. This all bodes well for the players' future development."

LETTER TO FOUNDER CLUBS

2nd March,

Every year it is becoming more and more difficult for football clubs of any standing to meet their friendly engagements and even arrange friendly matches. The consequence is that at the last moment, through cup-tie interference, clubs are compelled to take on teams who will not attract the public.

I beg to tender the following suggestion as a means of getting over the difficulty: that ten or twelve of the most prominent clubs in England combine to arrange home-and-away fixtures each season, the said fixtures to be arranged at a friendly conference about the same time as the International Conference

This combination might be known as the Association Football Union, and could be managed by representative from each club. Of course, this is in no way to interfere with the National Association; even the suggested matches might be played under cup-tie rules. However, this is a detail.

My object in writing to you at present is merely to draw your attention to the subject, and to suggest a friendly conference to discuss the matter more fully. I would take it as a favour if you would kindly think the matter over, and make whatever suggestions you deem necessary. I am only writing to the following – Blackburn Rovers, Bolton Wanderers, Preston North End, West Bromwich Albion, and Aston Villa, and would like to hear what other clubs you would suggest.

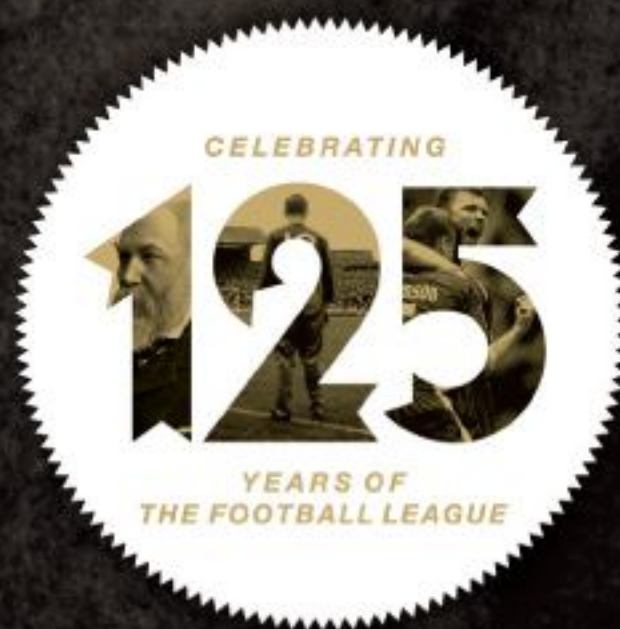

I am, yours very truly,

William McGregor
(Aston Villa F.C.)

STOKE CITY WANDERERS

First team squad members Stuart Holden, Josh Vela and Matt Mills all played 90 minutes in the Whites' development squad's defeat to Stoke City at the County Ground.

Wanderers enjoyed the large share of possession throughout the 90 minutes, but the visitors snatched all three points through courtesy of second-half goals from Ben Heneghan and a Lucas Dawson penalty.

The White will have the opportunity to avenge the defeat when they face the Potters again in ten days as they continue their Barclays Reserve League Group Two campaign.

After an evenly contested opening period, Matt Mills created the first notable opportunity on goal in the eighth minute but his header floated just past the post.

The ever-persistent Chris Lester was next to test the visitors' resolve in the 18th minute with a shot from the edge of the area, but his tame strike was easily collected by Stoke stopper Dale Eve.

Both sides enjoyed late chances before the break, as City's Andrew Musungu fired his effort into the side netting before both McKee and Zach Clough went close for the Whites.

The Whites almost took the lead shortly after the restart as Lester found Odelusi in space, but the winger failed to get the direction needed on his shot.

With Wanderers well and truly on top, Jamie Fullarton's side were dealt a cruel blow as Stoke snatched the lead through Heneghan who headed home from Dawson's free-kick.

Stoke were then handed the opportunity to double their lead from the penalty spot after Mills was adjudged to have fouled John Marsden inside the box, and Dawson made no mistake from 12 yards.

Wanderers almost responded just a minute later as Clough turned his man just inside the area, but he blazed his shot high and wide.

Bolton pushed for a route back into the game, and Odelusi, Andy Kellett and Holden all tested Eve inside the final ten minutes, but their persistence was ultimately in vain as the visitors held out for the victory.

Wanderers: Lynch, Threlkeld, Kellett, Mills, Bolger, Vela, Lester, Holden, Odelusi, Clough, McKee (Youngs 69) (Unused subs: Hampson, Sievers, Blakeman, McQuade)

SAUL HAMER

FIRST-YEAR SCHOLAR HOPING TO MAKE A NAME FOR HIMSELF

WORDS: EMMA NORRIS

Despite having only been with the club since the start of the season, first-year scholar Saul Hamer has every confidence that he can make a name for himself in the not too distant future.

The Preston-born centre-forward joined the Whites last summer and has since forced his way into David Lee and Tony Kelly's under-18s side.

The 17-year-old has been forced to pit his wits against the Baby Whites' in-form Tom Youngs, Georg Iliev and Zach Clough, but Hamer is adamant that his time will come.

"I wasn't playing too many games at the beginning of the season, but I've started to make the breakthrough now," he said.

"I have had to fight for my place against players like Zach, who has been doing really well, but now he's making his way up into the development squad and hopefully I will now be able to make my mark."

Having initially started his playing career at the age of seven with his local side Longridge Town, the youngster quickly progressed and it wasn't long before he was spotted by local scouts at Blackburn Rovers.

Hamer was delighted to finally get his break with a professional club, but it wasn't to be for the striker and he was released by the club at the age of 12, a moment which he admitted initially had an adverse effect on him.

"Leaving Blackburn definitely knocked my confidence, but I gained it back again by playing Sunday League. You've just got to take the knocks and pick yourself back up again."

Following his disappointment with Rovers, Hamer returned to Longridge in a bid to prove his worth before securing his place with Walkden based side BSS.

This move would prove to be crucial as he was soon scouted by Wanderers, but there was stiff competition from former club Blackburn. Despite their interest, Hamer confessed that there was only ever one club he wanted to join.

"The coaches here are great because they've played the game. They know exactly what they're doing and they're a massive help to us all."

The academy starlet admitted that his move to the Trotters has ultimately inspired him to give his all in a bid to secure his professional contract at the end of next season.

"Securing my scholarship when I came to Bolton has definitely been the highlight of my career so far. When I was released by Blackburn I did have my doubts as to whether I would get it, but I just picked myself up and thought I might as well go for it, which I did."

"It definitely helps as well here that the manager is so interested in the academy. It gives us all a boost that he is willing to do that bit more which is brilliant."

OPPOSITION SUMMARY

After securing promotion via the play-offs from League One last season, Huddersfield Town have held their own in England's second flight this season.

The Terriers are currently serving under their second manager of the campaign, after former boss Simon Grayson was relieved of his duties in January.

Ex-Manchester United striker Mark Robins was named as the new manager the following month, but Town's inconsistent form continued.

Defeats to Charlton, Brighton and Nottingham Forest saw Robins' side slide into the presuming relegation battle.

But despite three defeats on the spin, Huddersfield went on to pick up crucial wins over Crystal Palace and Burnley.

Town have also recorded wins over play-off hopefuls Middlesbrough and neighbours Leeds United at Elland Road in recent weeks, proving to be tricky opposition.

VISITING VIEW

Huddersfield Town fan and blogger Joe Whiteley feels that the Terriers had set the bar high in the early stages of the season, but their focus must now turn to securing survival in the Championship.

He said: "Our start to the season was beyond everyone's wildest dreams. When we first came up it was all about survival, but when we grabbed a few wins and found ourselves near the top of the table I think we all got caught up in the moment.

"We thought that we could perhaps surpass the pre-season expectations. Then obviously the bad run occurred and we got rid of Simon Grayson and brought Mark Robins in, and it's back to focusing on avoiding relegation again.

"Our form tends to change game-by-game. One win can see you move into mid-table, and one defeat can see you get dragged back into the relegation battle. Hopefully Robins can sort out our defensive issues and get us scoring a few more goals.

"At times we've been over-reliant on striker James Vaughan so far this season. He has scored some crucial goals for us and he is an extremely hard worker on and off the field, but now other players need to step up too."

THE MANAGER MARK ROBINS

Born: Ashton-under-Lyne, England
Date of Birth: 22/12/1969

Lancashire-born Mark Robins took over the reins at Huddersfield in February this year following the departure of former boss Simon Grayson.

Ex-Manchester United forward Robins started his managerial career with Rotherham United in 2007, before taking over the hot seat at Barnsley in 2009. The 43-year-old then took charge of Coventry City in 2012 before making the switch to West Yorkshire earlier this year.

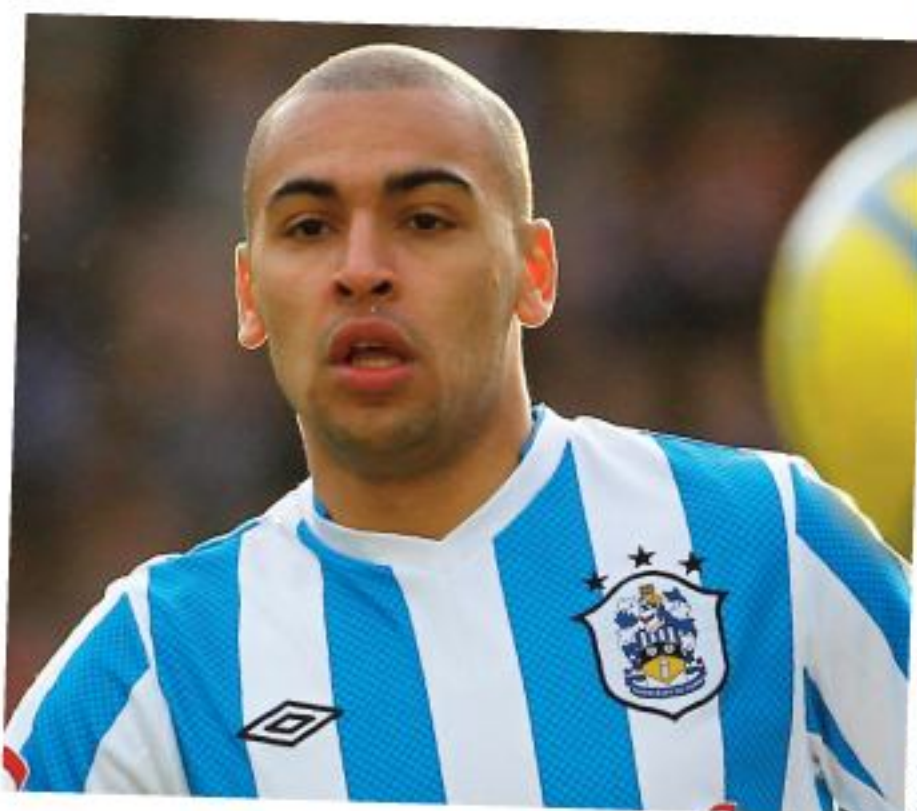

During a glittering playing career, Robins won the FA Cup, Charity Shield, UEFA Cup Winners' Cup, UEFA Super Cup and the League Cup, before moving into management.

But Mark Davies' 70th-minute strike turned the momentum in Bolton's favour, and Dougie Freedman's side were ahead soon after courtesy of Chris Eagles, but Vaughan's late goal snatched a point for the home side.

BOGDAN DISCOVERS THE LANCASHIRE WAY

Adam Bogdan attended the launch of 'Lancashire Way' at the Emirates Old Trafford to find out more about what Lancashire County Cricket Club will be doing in 2013 to raise participation levels in cricket.

The Lancashire Way is a partnership between Lancashire County Cricket Club, Lancashire County Cricket Club Foundation and the Lancashire Cricket Board that focuses on six key initiatives to promote inclusivity and raise the participation levels of cricket across the local region.

During Adam's time at the Indoor Cricket Centre he tried his hand at table cricket and learnt the basic skills of various cricket components such as batting and bowling as well as interacting with school children and young adults from local schools and community groups.

WANDERERS DUO VISIT MR ONE MILLION PROJECT

Zat Knight and Jay Spearing met with a group of young males at the Reebok Stadium to talk to them about the importance of being a good role model to your children.

The men - aged 18-30, unemployed and from Brightmet - are taking part in a media and arts programme called Mr One Million that is run weekly with the aim of helping the men gain new creative skills and access employment and other support opportunities. The group then work together to produce short films based on their own experiences.

As part of the programme, the group are currently producing a new project 'Once Upon a Time in Brightmet' which explores fatherhood and the role of young dads. Zat and Jay helped the men with their film by talking to them about the importance of being a good role model to your children as well as sharing their own stories and experiences of being fathers.

MARVIN ATTENDS TULL PERFORMANCE

England Under-21 international Marvin Sordell paid a visit to the Octagon in Bolton as he took part in an educational workshop with local youth organisations and community groups inspired by the theatre's recent production of Tull.

Marvin was joined by ex-Manchester City goalkeeper Alex Williams in the audience as they watched an extract from Tull; the tale of real life World War One hero Walter Tull who was a talented officer on the battlefield and the first black outfield player in the First Division of the Football League.

The play has inspired an education programme that tackles racism and uses football as inspiration to address the issues of racism that still exist today. The performance was followed by a question and answer session that gave the audience the opportunity to ask Marvin and Alex about their experiences of racism whilst Kick It Out representative Keeley Temple was also in attendance, providing an insight into the work that Kick It Out do to address racism within football.

WANDERERS TRIO GO GLOBAL

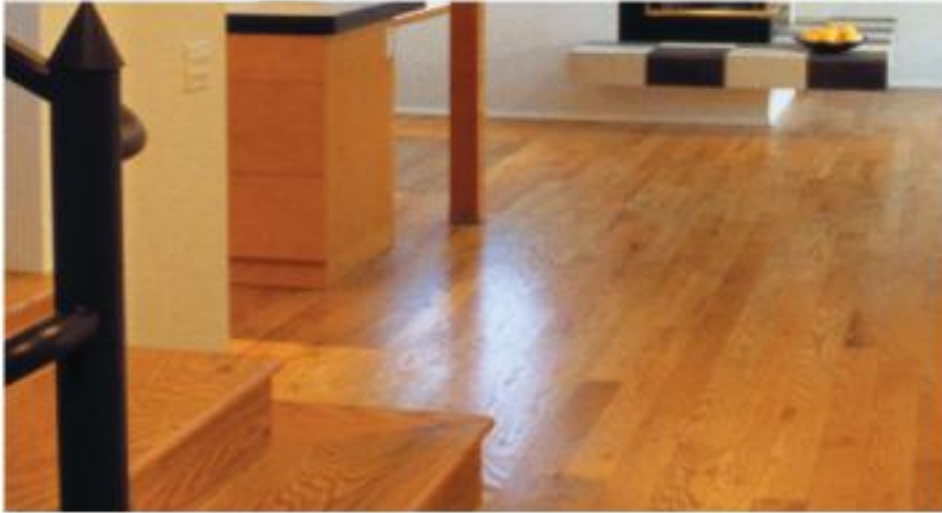

Wanderers trio Marcos Alonso, Medo Kamara and Marvin Sordell were the guests of honour at the Bolton Playing for Success Study@BWFC annual Go Global event at the Reebok Stadium.

Now in its fifth year, Go Global is an annual educational study session with school children from across Bolton, who are given the opportunity to explore the diverse languages and cultures that are shared by the club's international players with the aim of helping to encourage a mutual respect and understanding of our multi-cultural landscape.

The primary and secondary school pupils worked in small groups with each player to find out more about their upbringings and Marcos and Medo both shared the customs and traditions of their home countries. The school children were then given the opportunity to quiz the Wanderers' stars on the different languages in the dressing room and also to sample traditional cuisine from some of the home countries of members of the Bolton squad.
